THE NEAT MANNER IN WHICH SOME COLUMBIANS WERE WHIPPED.

COLUMBIA, Pa., Aug. 17.—A large number of Columbians who are usually "worked" last Saturday night by a street fakir.

The man had a wagon stationed at the corner of Third and Locust last Saturday night, and a large crowd of people soon assembled to hear what he had to offer for sale.

SUNDAY AT LANSDVILLE.

Biggest Day of the Church of God Camp—A LANDSDVILLE CAMP, Aug. 17.—The children's meeting at 1:30 p. m. yesterday was conducted by Elder Spiese, of Washington Borough.

The services were largely attended by the young people and an interesting address was made by Elders Spiese, Kahler, Hughes and Long.

At 3 o'clock Elder Charles Winkler, of Findlay, Ohio, preached from the text, "Thou wilt help him in perfect peace because he trusted in thee." (Isaiah xxxv, 4.)

Winkler was formerly a member of this East Pennsylvania eldership, and his remarks were followed with close attention by his many friends and acquaintances.

The prayer meeting at 8 o'clock was led by Elder Hughes, of Maryland. At 7:30 Elder Estorlin, of Newburg, preached from Exodus, xvi, 7. His theme was, "Who is on the Lord's Side?"

The appearance of a man who is in dead earnest. The morning dawned cool and bright. The inevitable Sunday excursion train brought in many people from different sections of the county.

By ten o'clock—church and time—the woods were pretty well filled with worshippers and sight-seers and a good audience gathered to listen to the morning sermon by J. J. Lockwood, of Middle-town. Elder Lockwood is one of the bright lights of the East Pennsylvania eldership.

The New Birth—the theme—was explained with unusual clearness and to the interest and profit of the people. A fitting introduction to this service was the eight o'clock prayer meeting, which was attended by a larger number than heretofore and marked by deep feeling.

The children's meeting at 1:30 p. m. led by Mr. S. L. Hershberger, of Philadelphia, was largely attended. The children were addressed by Mr. Hershberger, Elders Martin, Marple and Hughes, Prof. McMichael and Miss Anna Hess.

The largest audience yet assembled on the grounds greeted Elder Getz, of Mt. Joy, at 3 o'clock. His sermon from Hebrews, xii, 24, was carefully prepared, eloquently delivered, given diligent attention, but was too long. Elder Winkler, of Ohio, followed with a powerful and stirring exhortation.

At the close of the six o'clock prayer meeting Elder Marple, of Westmoreland county, preached. NOTES.

New Arrivals.—Mr. J. Chillis, of Lancaster; J. E. and G. J. Kurzenknecht, Misses Etie and Odessa Fry, Mr. Jackson Hammett and Miss Jennie Cramer, Mr. Geo. Timan, Harrisburg, are among the recent arrivals.

Senator Stehman and Sam Matt Fry were on the grounds today. The prayer meeting before the morning preaching service was peculiarly and strikingly impressive.

The choir is doing good service. Mr. Howard Elmer, of this city, assisted markedly to-day with his cornet.

Next Thursday afternoon there will be a grand picnic on the grounds. On Sunday next, Prof. Palm will lead a service of song, to consist of duets, quartets and choruses.

Both the Pennsylvania and Reading railroads ran excursion trains to the camp grounds yesterday. The former carried 225 and the latter 200 people from this city.

It is the Last Animal. Mr. Benjamin Wertz, of near Washington, and a friend, who they found a horse lying dead to an empty buggy. The team was taken to the residence, and it had not been cleaned up to-day.

Religion and Fighting. Yesterday a colored campmeeting was held in John B. Mylin's woods, West Lampeter township, about three-quarters of a mile from Willow Str. et. There were over one thousand people in attendance, and we saw preaching in the morning, afternoon and evening. The evening service was cut short for fear of a row.

A young fellow named Charles, who had been drinking, was determined to make a big noise. He was thrice out of the grounds by the watchmen, although it might have been well to let him up. A campmeeting was gotten up by Jacob Keesey, a resident of the neighborhood.

Society in Texas. From the San Antonio Light. A certain young society gentleman of this city, raised a fine opportunity to attend a campmeeting of his own company in this city. A well dressed lady, with whom he had slight acquaintance, met upon the street and cordially invited him to accompany her to a private entertainment. He was to take place at her residence on a certain night. Thinking the lady kindly for her invitation, which, incidentally, she thought she took such a sudden and startling interest in him, he was about to raise his hand at parting, when she laid a lace handkerchief on his shoulder and said, "Would he, if he had it in pocket, loan her the sum of five dollars?"

She thrusting his hand in his pocket and drew forth $2.50, and informed her that that was the extent of his cash assets. "Oh, you might as well go home," she would assist her. She disdainfully turned away, saying, "No, that will do me no good."

Her friend, who was present, young society friend does not know whether to attend the private party or stay away, although the evening set apart for it is fast approaching.

Indians on a Rampage. The Indians who advertise a patent medicine, exhibiting on West James street, where they are selling the goods. This afternoon one of the band went into the alley next to Finn & Brennan's store and ordered to leave a big fuss. He was ordered to leave, but refused to go, and struck one of the gentlemen in the face. His swearing was done in the best of English, and he was very thrashing, as a number of people present and desired to give it to him. It is supposed that the gentle red man was full of lobster, but, as they seem to be very fond of it.

Sails With Another Date. From the Hartford Times. "Was midnight on the seas" or what was about the same thing, late in the evening, and the yacht was becalmed about three miles from shore.

"Really, I don't know. I have four great blisters on my hand, from rowing and am really awfully tired."

"Go to sleep, dude," was the spirited reply, and she took the oars herself and pulled the boat into the harbor, where she sailed with that due no more.

Not One of the Old Masters. From the New York Times. Old Lady (gazing at oil painting)—Who painted that air picture, mister?

Dealer—No, ma'am; one of the old mistresses. He recognized the Immensity. From the New York Times. Enraptured Young Woman, gazing upward to young newspaper man—What a beautiful thing is space! Do you ever contemplate its immensity?

Y. Y. Daily Paper Man—Indeed I do. I have a column of it to fill every day.
